HASTY PATCHWORK PEACE MAY BE NECESSARY

NO APPARENT PROGRESS ON TERMS WHILE CRISIS IN GERMANY IS VERY RAPIDLY APPROACHING

OBJECTION IN BRITAIN HAMPERS

By Carl D. Groat
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 3—Continued pressure on the "big four" to accomplish any work, due to the serious situation in Germany, accentuated the pessimism surrounding the peace conference today.

There was talk in some high quarters that it will be necessary to make peace along general lines if a settlement is to be made effective before a crisis is reached in Germany.

The present bitter debate in British parliament over peace is regarded as significant.

VOLUNTEERS WILL RALIEVE MEN NOW SERVING WITH ARMY OF OCCUPATION

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 3—Soldiers in the American army of occupation will be released as rapidly as volunteers can be sent the War Department stated today, in a letter to General Pershing. Pershing was instructed to select the most meritorious cases from among his men and those who enlisted for the duration of the war for priority in return. The War Department also revealed the proportion which men are being enlisted for various branches of the service. A cable to Pershing said "we are now enlisting for three years 50,000 volunteers as follows: 25,000 Infantry, 16,000 field artillery 5,000 engineers 3,000 medical department, 2,000 cavalry.

APPEAL TO SAVE DEBS FROM PRISON IS BEING PUT UP TO THE PRESIDENT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 3—President Wilson has been informally asked to grant respite to Eugene C. Debs, found guilty and sentenced to ten years imprisonment under the espionage act, it was announced at the White House today. The application is now in the hands of the Attorney General and his recommendation is expected to be forwarded to the President at Paris shortly. The request is signed by Frank P. Walsh,, Charles Edward Russell and Allen Benson.

PTODATE EUROPEAN OTEL FOR THIS CITY

alph Jordan, proprietor of the known Jordan Cafe, next door e Witmer Inn hotel, has secured ng lease on the Witmer Inn and Contractor Grant Butler and a of men busy at work converting same into an up-to-date temperate hotel, which will be conducted on European plan.

Mr. Jordan has had many years experience as a successful caterer and restaurateur and knowing as he does the needs of the town and the possibilities connected therewith has embarked in this business proposition.

Under his plans the building will be completely overhauled and many improvements added thereto. These will consist of placing wash stands with hot and cold water in each of the thirty-two bedrooms on the second and third floors and the addition of several bath rooms and shower bath.

The old bar room, writing room and office will be converted into a dining room with a seating capacity of 150. In addition thereto a private dining room will also be fitted up immediately adjoining the main dining hall.

The present hotel dining room will be converted into office and writing room while the present kitchen will be utilized as a stock room.

An addition will be built into the space between the restaurant and the private dining room immediately in the rear in which the store or stock room and kitchen will be located. Spacious hallways will connect the kitchen, dining rooms and other first floor departments.

Three thousand feet of mineral wood flooring will be used in the dining room, which will be wainscoated four feet high of the same material. A handsome wall lighting system will be employed and the dining room made a real "show place".

The furniture and equipmnt will be uniform in style and of the very best and when completed Mr. Jordan will have one of the finest establishments of the kind in this section.

The change will be made at an estimated total cost of more than ten thousand dollars, Mr. ordan feeling justified in making the outlay by the fact that he has secured a long term lease on the property.

In connection with this change we are unofficially informed that the plans of the McCrory Company for the future provide for the extension of their present Market street store through to the alley in the rear of the Witmer Inn property. We make his latter statement in fear and trembling because some time ago we printed a news item concerning the possible utility of the Witmer Inn property and one of the 5 and 10 cent lawyers connected with the corporation scared us nigh to death by threatening dire things if we didn't take it back.

HAS OFFICE IN MURRAY BUILDING

John M. Bain, Secretary of the local Exemption Board for this district has moved his office to Room No. 6 in the Murray building, where he can be found by those desiring his services as a stenographer. He will be glad to be of service to any former enlisted man who is seeking information of any knd or desires to communicate with the War or Navy Departments.

The first accomplished women entomologist in the world was Charlotte de Bernier Taylor, daughter of the Savannah merchant who sent the first steamship across the Atlantic.

BERLIN STRIKE IS SPREADING; OVER 100,000 NOW IDLE

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

Berlin, April 2, (delayed)—More than 150,000 men were on strike in Berlin late today Metal workers were the first to walk out. They were quickly followed by several others of the trade's unions. While the strike had been anticipated for several days it was believed to have been postponed and the walk out caught the government forces unprepared. There was no violence, however and the city was quiet tonight. Reports received here tonight indicated that disturbances had been renewed in Stuttgart Business is completely at a stand still. Crowds swarmed through the streets storming army food wagons. Government troops are using machine guns, behind buildings and armored motor cars. Aa battery of tanks is assisting in patroling the streets. In Frankfurt hundreds of persons have been arrested. Loss from plundering is estimated at a million dollars.

CENTER OF CITY HAS CLOSE CALL FROM PAPER FIRE

Burning paper came mighty near causing a real fire at Schmitt's bake shop last evening about 7 o'clock. A young son of W. P. Sheeder carried a large pile of waste paper out of the music store and setting fire to it in the vacant lot back of Tobias' grocery went away and left it. A gust of wind scattered the blazing paper every which way and a portion of same lodging in a large pile of wood immediately adjoining the flour room at the bakery a dangerous fire was quickly started.

When the fire was discovered the bakery people got busy at once but it was burning so fiercely that it looked as though the flames would communicate to the building and the fire alarm was sounded. The firemen were quickly on the scene but were not required to get into action, but it was a very close call.

This near-blaze should once more emphasize the dangerousness of the paper burning practice, so freely indulged in by too many Clearfield business men. The neighborhood wherein this accident occurred is notorious for this bad habit and Fire Chief Hopfer proposes now to break it up if he has to invoke the State law in addition to the borough ordinances.

The backyards in this neighborhood and several other places about town are also regular fire traps as they are littered with inflammable rubbish of every kind and description and a general clean up and lessening of the fire hazard generally is necessary and at once.

Act now before a disastrous fire occurs.

PENN STATE TO CELEBRATE COMMENCEMENT IN JUNE

State College, Pa., April 3—The commencement exercises at the Pennsylvania State College next June will break all records in the number of alumni returning for class reunions and in the intensity of celebration.

Appropriate patriotic celebrations for the victorious close of the war are under consideration by the college authorities. Hundreds of alumni and former students recently out of military service have decided to come back for the biggest celebration reunion to express their jubilation at America's victory and Penn State's participation in the war. Special features will be arranged in memory of Penn State's graduates who made the supreme sacrifice.

WEST SIDE M. E. CHOIR ATTENTION!

There will be rehearsal at the home of F. L. Ward on Merrill street tonight at 7:30 sharp.

The president of the Woman's Christian emperance union in Japan is Mrs. Yajima, who at the age of 85 years gives her entire time to the work of the organization.

"TED" LEITZINGER DESCRIBES PARIS IN GLOWING TERMS

March, 8 1919
Selles Sur Chee

Dear Dad,

Will try and give you a little description of my trip to Paris. I left St Argnan last Monday at 5 p. m. and arrived in Tours at 8 p. m. Left Tours for Paris at 2.30 a. m. arriving there at 8 a. m. I knew the name of the Y. M. C. A hotel that I wanted to get to and took the subway (they call it the Metro) up to the center of the city. I got a good room there for 3 francs (60 cents) a night. The meals are all excellent. The dining rooms seat about 1200. You can get breakfast and lunch for 65c, dinner at 6 p m., 85c They have two French men at information desks who will give you written directions where ever you want to go. They also run a lunch counter all day and night where you can get coffee and sandwiches and fruit. They also make up small lunches for you to take when you are going on the train. They supply you with wrapping paper and cord, and have a lady there to address and weigh your small packages for you. I sent a little package to John Jr., hope that he receives it.

I was up to the K. of C. and they have a fairly nice place. All they have though is a reading room, writing room and pool parlor Both the Y. M. C. A and the K. of C. run boxing contests at a large auditorium throughout the city

The Y. M. C. A. run sight seeing busses through the city in the morning and again in the p. m. You pay 5 francs ($1.00 and it si well worth the money. I took in the trip Wednesday morning. We left our hote (hotel Pavillion) at 9:15 a m. We went up the grand boulevard first coming to the Bastile—the famous prison which in the old days the people tore down with their bare hands. (There is a Y. M. C. A secretary goes with each bus and explains every thing)

The next place we came to was the famous Cathedral Notre Dame. This is where Napoleon was crowned. The original crown of thorns at the time of the crucifixion is kept here and is displayed once a year. You see the big doors there where the royalty used to ride through on horse back. The common people entered through a small door on the side. I sent home a postal of the beautiful rose window. It is the most beautiful window in the world. On our way we passed the church where 90 people were killed on Good Friday when a shell from the 75-mile gun struck the church. Next we went through the Palace of Justice. We were in the room where the Supreme court meets The cost of this room has never been estimated. All of the trimmings is in solid gold. The rug on the floor is worth four million dollars.

On our way to Napoleon's tomb which was our next stop, we passed the famous Eiffel tower which is 984 feet high. It is used for a radio station and no visitors permitted. Napoleon's tomb certainly as wonderful They sure have him weighed down I think that he will be misisng on Resurrection. Day His two brothers and two of his famous generals are buried in the same building.

The next place we took in was the Pantheon La Guerre. Believe me this is some sight. The big thing in there is a picture painted on canvas which forms a circle around the room. It is 368 feet around and 45 feet high. It took 19 artists 4 years to paint the picture. It is a war picture and each allied country is represented on the canvas. The entire battle-field is shown, you can see the aeroplane and tanks.

We got back to the hotel at noon and at 12:30 I stared out again with a bunch of 500 soldiers and 4 Y. M. C. A. secertaries. This time we were headed for Versailles the former capitol of France. It is 15 miles out and we took the subway (This trip costs us 40c.) Versailles is valued at 75 million, so you can bet it was a treat. We were taken all through the palace. I was in the room where grandfather of the present Kaiser was proclaimed Emperor of Germany This is the room where the German delegates will lhave to come to sign the peace terms. There is one immense hall there called the Hall of Battles Here a picture is painted on the wall of the most famous battle of the different kings from the year 496 to 1809. Saw the place where the mob took Louis 14th and Marie Antionette You can easily see why there was a revolution over here The Germans occupied this castle when they occupied Paris in 1870, but did not harm it, I could not start to describe the grounds. They are too beautiful for words to describe. We arrived back at the hotel at 3:30 p. m.

The first thing that I did was to go to the K. of C. headquarters and try and get my check cashed. One of the Secretaries, a Mr. M E. Buerle, from Cleveland Council No. 733, said he would take a chance on me and gave the treasurer his personal check in exchange for mine. Write to him in care of the K of C. headquarters at Paris and thank him. It certainly helped me out for I could not of had it cashed.

I mentioned in one of my other letters about meeting Mr. Swiggan. I recognized him as I remembered seeing him work the 3rd in Altoona and DuBois. I also met a fellow in Paris from Philipsburg, Pa., by the name of Fred offer. I used to play basket ball against him.

I took in a good show every night. The Follies Bourges and the Casino de Paris are two of the big ones I took in.

Well, I am mighty glad that I got to see Paris. It is the most wonderful city in the world and I think the rottenest. Believe me it is fierce. I left Paris yesterday morning and arrived at Chatillon at 5 p. m. All of the outfit had been transferred to the 163 Railway transportation at Selles Sur Chee, four miles down the Canal. Well, here I am. We have an entire new personnel of officers and couldn't wish for better ones. When at full strength the Co. will consist of 250 men. We are nearly filled now as men have been coming in all day long We only exect to be here a few days til lwe will be sent to our destination I do not know how I am going to like it but it looks pretty good at first glance. I will be good and busy from now on. All we are doing here is getting our equipment. We were issued Smith & Weston revolvers today. I know that I will be much more content now that I am kept busy. I no doubt will have charge of a platoon (60 men.' Which will keep me good an dbusy. Men from all branches of the service are in this Co.

Yesterday I received your letter of Feb. 14, and 18. Glad to hear I have so much money in the bank. I will see what they want for the Woolworth building when I get to N. Y and if it is not too much I will buy. Say I think I have a $50 Liberty Bond too. (All paid for) Will let you know details of this job as soon as I find them out m yself. Love to all.

SPENT VACATION AT ORLANDO

Clearfield, Pa.
April 4,, 1919

Editor Progress:

Dear Sir: After thanking you for sending me the Progress regularly to Orlando, Florida, I want to say that the time we spent in Florida was spent largely at Orlando. We visited Petersburg to see the Clearfield colony, and other towns in the state. We met many of the "Idle Rich" on the west coast, and our visit to St. Petersburg was made specially pleasant by the courtesy of our friends Conklin & Reed, who seem to be prospering in the south and we are under lasting obligations to E E. Jimison and wife, who enabled us in their car, to see many of the towns of Florida and the east coast

Cordially yours,
F. G. HARRIS

NOTICE

The regular meeting of the W. C T .U will be held at the home of Mrs Martha Iiames Friday evening at 7:30

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

JAMES EARNEST KARNES, Sergeant, Company D, 117th Infantry.

Sergt. Karnes, whose home is with his mother, Mrs. Emily Karnes, 2501 North Broadway, Knoxville, Tenn., was decorated for extraordinary heroism in action near Estrees, France, October 8, 1918. During an advance, Sergt. Karnes' company was held up by a machine gun, which was enfilading the lines. Accompanied by another member of his company, he advanced against this position and succeeded in reducing the nest by killing three and capturing seven of the enemy and their guns.

Lest We Forget

JUDGE REED LIKELY TO SIT ON PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Harrisburg, April 2—Informaton at the Capitol tonight is to the effect that Judge John W Reed, formerly judge of Brookville, Jefferson County, will fill the vacancy on the Public Service Commission caused by the death of Commissioner Harold M. McClure. The post, it is said, has been tendered him by the Governor and information is that he has accepted. It is expected the announcement of his appointment will be made before the Governor goes to Hot Springs, Va., in the next day or so.

Judge Reed served two terms as judge of the Common Pleas Court of Jefferson county, and was recognized throughout the State as one of the very ablest lower court judges in Pennsylvania. He was defeated for re-election in 1916, the wet and dry question, entering into the contest and this issue alone encompassed his defeat

In 1917 he removed from Brookville to Clearfield and associated himself with Hon. Harry Boulton and John C. Forsyth in the practice of law here under the firm name of Reed, Boulton & Forsyth.

He is a strong vigorous man in the prime of life and he will bring to the Public Service Commission an able judicial mind, and a reputation as jurist, lawyer and citizen against which no word of criticism can be truthfully spoken. His selection by Governor Sproul is a signal honor to Clearfield and is so regarded and appreciated by all our citizens, regardless of party affiliations The Governor, the Public Service Commission and the people of Pennsylvania are to be congratulated upon the appointment to this highly important position of John W. Reed.

The Progress man asked Judge Reed this morning to verify the dispatches carried by the city newspapers. He said he knew nothing about it more than was contained in those dispatches and also said he had not asked for the appointment and did not know it was being considered until a Pittsburg banker friend wired his congratulations on the appointment this morning.

EDITORIAL HASH.

According to the weekly bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture there is over seven million bushels of potatoes yet on the farms of this state. Over 204,000 bushels are reported to be in the bins of Clearfield county farmers. Of wheat there is reported to be almost four million bushels in the hands of the farmers and 20,000 bushels held by Clearfield farmers. Talk about food supply. As far as spuds are concerned there are 2 bushels each for every man, woman and child in the county which ought to last us until our gardens are blooming.

Now here is where we are going to call down the wrath of our farmer friends on our heads. A man who has the figures and information before him declares that the farmers of Pennsylvania "took nothing of the First Libert Loan" a little of the Second, some of the Third and in the Fourth, they just began to buy bonds."

This is really an indictment against the farmer in general notwithstanding the fact that we knew some who went the limit. The truth hurts. Farmers will have a chance to raise their batting average on the next loan.

Ambition is a commendable trait in any man but misguided ambition often results in a hasty jump from the frying pan into the fire. Germany had a better government under the Kaiser than she has today and the only reason that riot and anarchy are running wild in Germany today is because the German people seek to accomplish and build up over night what will require years of patient effort to build. The great reforms to which we look forward in this country cannot come about through miracles or sudden and swift changes of government. We can and will improve our own national situation but it cannot be done by soapbox orations or political upheavals.

George wrote another letter to Bill who is with the A. E. F., now holding the Rhine bridgeheads. Here is a copy of it. We can hear Bill snort and rage when he reads the last paragraph.

Dear Bill:

Well I wish you could have been in the old town last night. Big dance. Some affair too. Two dollars per with a buffet lunch and you know how much a buffet lunch sets you back these days. Of course I had just drawn a sweet old pay envelope and then I had some saved up from the good old days when we were getting bonuses for making munitions for you fellows to use. Met some of the swell ladies again who I become acquainted with this winter at other dances and one in particular to whom I sent a big box of candy a couple of weeks ago. This ball is a sort of preliminary to another which is to be given at Easter time and I'm all ready for that of course with a new layout from the tailor. It is to be held over at the berg and the bunch will hire cars to go over, that is the most of them will, but as for me I expect to have a boat of my own by that time. It's ordered now.

Now that the war is over Bill, you might be glad you are over there with nothing to do but guard duty. Better than fighting, isn't it. It's H—— here. Always after a fellow for money for something. Expect too much of us. Now they are getting up another loan. I can't see where I can take any. I can't afford it. So long, write.

Yours,
GEORGE

CLEARFIELD NATIONAL BANK

"THE BANK OF SERVICE"

GREEN FANCY

by GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Author of "GRAUSTARK," "THE HOLLOW OF HER HAND," "THE PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK," ETC.

Copyright by Dodd, Mead and Company, Inc.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Thomas K. Barnes, wealthy New Yorker, on a walking trip through New England, is caught in a storm miles from his destination. At a crossroads point he meets a girl in the same plight. While they discuss the situation an automobile, sent to meet the girl, arrives and Barnes is given a lift to Hart's tavern, while the girl is taken on to her destination, which she tells Barnes is a place called Green Fancy.

CHAPTER II—At the tavern Barnes falls in with a stranded troupe of "barnstorming" actors, headed by Lyndon Rusheroft, and becomes interested in them.

CHAPTER III—As the storm grows, Barnes finds himself worrying over the safety of the girl, traveling over the mountain roads at what he considers dangerous speed. He learns that Green Fancy is something of a house of mystery. Two mounted men leave the tavern in a manner which arouses Barnes' curiosity.

CHAPTER IV—He meets "Miss Thackeray," leading lady of the stranded theatrical troupe, who is acting as chambermaid. That night he is aroused by the bringing of a dying man to the tavern, one of the two who had ridden away a short time before. They tell of finding the dead body of the other man. Both had been shot.

CHAPTER V.

The Farm-Boy Tells a Ghastly Story and an Irishman Enters.

Barnes stared. "What do you mean?" he demanded sharply.

"I mean just what I said. What do you know about this business?"

"How should I know anything about it?"

"Well, we don't know who you are, nor what you're doing up here, nor what your real profession is. That's why I ask the question."

"I see," said Barnes, after a moment. He grasped the situation and he admitted to himself that Jones had cause for his suspicions. "It has occurred to you that I may be a detective or a secret service man, isn't that the case? Well, I am neither. Did you know any more about these two men, Mr. Jones, than you know about me?"

"I don't know anything about 'em."

"What was their business?"

"Mr. Roon was lookin' for a place to bring his daughter who has consumption. He didn't want to take her to a reg'lar consumptive community, he said, an' so he was lookin' for a quiet place where she wouldn't be associatin' with lungers all the time. That was his business, Mr. Barnes, an' I guess you'd call it respectable, wouldn't you?"

"Perfectly. But why should he be troubled by my presence here if—"

Miss Thackeray put an end to the discussion in a most effectual manner.

"Oh, for the Lord's sake, cut it out! Wait till he's dead, can't you?" she whispered fiercely. "You've got all the time in the world to talk, and he hasn't more than ten minutes left to breathe unless that rube doctor gets here pretty soon. I think he's going

"I Think He's Going Now," She Whispered.

now. Keep still, all of you. Is he breathing, Mr. Barnes? That awful cough just now seemed to—" Her eyes were fixed on the still face. "Why—why, how tightly he holds my hand! I can't get it away—he must be alive, Mr. Barnes. Where is that silly doctor?"

Barnes unclasped the rigid fingers of the man called Andrew Paul, and, shaking his head sadly, drew her away from the improvised bier. He and the shivering Mr. Dillingford conducted her to the dining room, where a single kerosene lamp gave out a feeble, rather ghastly light.

"Would you like a little brandy?" inquired Barnes, as she sat down limply in the chair he pulled out for her. "I have a flask upstairs in my—"

"I never touch it," she said. "I'm all right. My legs wabble a little but—Sit down Mr. Barnes. I've got something to say to you and I'd better say it now, because it may come in pretty handy for you later on. Don't let those women come in here, Dilly.

"This afternoon I walked up in the woods back of the tavern to go over some lines in a new piece we are to do later on—God knows when! I could see the house from where I was sitting. Roon's windows were plainly visible. I saw Roon standing at a window looking toward the cross-roads with a pair of field-glasses. Every once in awhile he would turn to Paul, who stood beside him with a notebook, and say something to him. Paul wrote it down. Then he would look again, turning the glasses this way and that. Suddenly my eyes almost popped out of my head. Paul had gone away from the window. He came back and he had a couple of revolvers in his hands. They stood there for a few minutes carefully examining the weapons and reloading them with fresh cartridges. Just as I was about to start down to the house—it was a little after six o'clock, and getting awfully dark and overcast—Roon took up the glasses again. He seemed to be excited and called his companion. Paul grabbed the glasses and looked down the road. They both became very much excited, pointing and gesticulating, and taking turn about with the glasses."

"About six o'clock, you say?" said Barnes, greatly interested.

"It was a quarter after six when I got back to the house. I spoke to Mr. Bacon about what I'd seen and he said he believed they were German spies, up to some kind of mischief along the Canadian border. Then about half an hour later you came to the tavern. I saw Roon sneak out to the head of the stairs and listen to your conversation with Jones when you registered. That gave me an idea. It was you they were watching the road for."

Barnes held up his hand for silence. "Listen," he said in a low voice. "I will tell you who they were looking for." As briefly as possible he recounted his experience with the strange young woman at the cross roads. "From the beginning I have connected this tragedy with the place called Green Fancy. I'll stake my last penny that they have been hanging around here waiting for the arrival of that young woman. They knew she was coming and they doubtless knew what she was bringing with her. What do you know about Green Fancy?"

He was vastly excited. His active imagination was creating all sorts of possibilities and complications, depredations and intrigues.

Bacon was the one who answered. "People live up there and since we've been here two or three men visitors have come down from the place to sample our stock of wet goods. I talked with a couple of 'em day before yesterday. They were out for a horseback ride and stopped here for a mug of ale."

"Were they foreigners?" inquired Barnes.

"If you want to call an Irishman a foreigner, I'll have to say one of them was. He had a beautiful brogue. The other was an American, I'm sure. Yesterday they rode past here with a couple of swell-looking women. I saw them turn up the road to Green Fancy."

The arrival of four or five men, who stamped into the already crowded hallway from the porch outside, claimed the attention of the quartette. Among them was the doctor who, they were soon to discover, was also the coroner of the county. A very officious deputy sheriff was also in the group.

Mr. Jones called out from the doorway: "Mr. Barnes, you're wanted in there."

"All right," he responded.

The doctor had been working over the prostrate form on the tables. As Barnes entered the room, he looked up and declared that the man was dead.

"This is Mr. Barnes," said Putnam Jones, indicating the tall traveler with a short jerk of his thumb.

"I am from the sheriff's office," said the man who stood beside the doctor. The rest of the crowd evidently had been ordered to stand back from the tables. "Did you ever see this man before?"

"Not until he was carried in here an hour ago."

"What's your business up here, Mr. Barnes?"

"I have no business up here. I just happened to stroll in this evening."

"Well," said the sheriff darkly, "I guess I'll have to ask you to stick around here till we clear this business up. We don't know you an'— Well, we can't take any chances. You understand, I reckon."

"I certainly fail to understand, Mr. Sheriff. I know nothing whatever of this affair and I intend to continue on my way tomorrow morning."

"Well, I guess not. You got to stay here till we are satisfied that you don't know anything about this busi-

The HOT SPOT Chalmers is the One Car of the Day

THE great American public, never fooled for long, is beginning to realize that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Sales are climbing fast. From coast to coast the movement is toward Chalmers.

Today this car is on a production basis at the factory that Chalmers executives little expected to occur even in July.

Why is this?

The answer is "Hot Spot." For this simple but really magnificent device does a trick in the use of gas that is almost beyond belief.

It "smashes up" raw gas, "pulverizes" it, makes it "fine as dust," so that you can get every last bit of power out of gas.

Then the great Ram's-horn rushes it gently but quickly through "easy air bends" to the cylinders, and what is the result?

Not only high power from a low grade gas, but an even, soft flow of power that rests your nerves, saves your tires, and gives you a new and rare delight in driving.

Please don't miss this present day Chalmers. It's the one car of the day.

ness. That's all."

"Am I to consider myself under arrest, sir?"

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that. You just stick around here, that's all I got to say. If you're all right, we'll soon find it out. What's more, if you are all right you'll be willin' to stay. Do you get me?"

"I certainly do. And I can now assure you, Mr. Sheriff, that I'd like nothing better than to stick around here, as you put it. I'd like to help clear this matter up. In the meantime, you may readily find out who I am and why I am here by telegraphing to the mayor of New York city. This document, which experience has taught me to carry for just such an emergency as this, may have some weight with you." He opened his bill folder and drew forth a neatly creased sheet of paper. "Read it, please, and note the date, the signature, the official seal of the New York police department, and also the rather interesting silver print pasted in the lower left hand corner. I think you will agree that it is a good likeness of me. Each year I take the precaution of having myself certified by the police department at home before venturing into unknown and perhaps unfriendly communities."

"Yes," said the sheriff dubiously; "but how do I know it ain't a forgery?"

"You don't know, of course. But in case it shouldn't be a forgery and I am subjected to the indignity of arrest or even detention, you would have a nasty time defending yourself in a civil suit for damages. I shall remain here, as you suggest, but only for the purpose of aiding you in getting to the bottom of this affair."

Standing in Jim Conley's front porch a little after sunrise, Barnes made the following declaration:

"Everything goes to show that these men were up here for one of two reasons. They were either trying to prevent or to enact a crime. The latter is my belief. They were afraid of me. Why? Because they believed I was trailing them and likely to spoil their game. Gentlemen, those fellows were here for the purpose of robbing the place you call Green Fancy."

"What's that?" came a rich, mellow voice from the outskirts of the crowd. A man pushed his way through and confronted Barnes. He was a tall, good-looking fellow of thirty-five, and it was apparent that he had dressed in haste. "My name is O'Dowd, and I am a guest of Mr. Curtis at Green Fancy. Why do you think they meant to rob his place?"

"Well," began Barnes dryly, "it would seem that his place is the only one in the neighborhood that would bear robbing. My name is Barnes. Of course, Mr. O'Dowd, it is mere speculation on my part."

"But who shot the man?" demanded the Irishman. "He certainly wasn't winged by anyone from our place. Why, Lord love you, sir, there isn't a soul at Green Fancy who could shoot a thief if he saw one. This is Mr. De Soto, also a guest at Green Fancy. He will, I think, bear me out in upsetting your theory."

A second man approached, shaking his head vigorously. He was a thin, able man with a singularly scholastic face. Quite an unpossessing, unsanguinary person, thought Barnes.

"Mr. Curtis' chauffeur, I think it was, said the killing occurred just above this house," said he, visibly excited. "Green Fancy is at least a mile from here, isn't it? You don't shoot burglars a mile from the place they are planning to rob, do you?"

"I'll admit it's a bit out of reason," said Barnes. "The second man could only have been shot by some one who was lying in wait for him."

"Bedad," said O'Dowd, "it beats the devil. There's something big in this thing, Mr. Parkins—something a long sight bigger than any of us suspects."

"You'll find that it resolves itself into a problem for Washington to solve," said De Soto darkly. "Nothing local about it, take my word for it. These men were up to some international devilment. There'll be a stir in Washington over this, sure as anything."

"What time was it that you heard the shots up at Green Fancy?" ventured Barnes.

"Lord love you," cried O'Dowd, "we didn't hear a sound. Mr. Curtis, who has insomnia the worst way, poor devil, heard them and sent some one out to see what all the racket was about. The man, it seems, made such a devil of a racket when he came home with the news that the whole house was up in pajamas and peignoirs."

"I think I have a slight acquaintance with the chauffeur," said Barnes. "He gave me the most thrilling motor ride I've ever experienced. Gad, I'll never forget it."

The two men looked at him plainly perplexed.

"When was all this?" inquired De Soto.

"Early last evening. He picked up your latest guest at the corners, and she insisted in his driving me to the tavern before the storm broke. I've been terribly anxious about her. She must have been caught out in all that frightful—"

"What's this you are saying, Mr. Barnes?" cut in De Soto, frowning. "No guest arrived at Green Fancy last evening, nor was one expected."

Barnes stared. "Do you mean to say that she didn't get there, after all?"

"She? A woman, was it?" demanded O'Dowd. "Bedad, if she said she was coming to Green Fancy she was spoofing you. Are you sure it was old Peter who gave you that jolly ride?"

"No, I am not sure," said Barnes uneasily. "She was afoot, having walked from the station below. I met her at the corners and she asked me if I knew how far it was to Green Fancy, or something like that. Said she was going there. Then along came the automobile, rattling down this very road—an ancient Panhard driven by an old codger. She seemed to think it was all right to hop in and trust herself to him, although she'd never seen him before."

"The antique Panhard fits in all right," said O'Dowd, "but I'm hanged if the woman fits at all. No such person arrived at Green Fancy last night."

"Did you get a square look at the driver's face?" demanded De Soto.

"It was almost too dark to see, but he was old, hatchet-faced, and spoke with an accent."

"Then it couldn't have been Peter," said De Soto positively. "He's old, right enough, but he is as big as the side of a house, with a face like a full moon, and he is Yankee to his toes. By gad, Barnes, the plot thickens! A woman has been added to the mystery. Now, who the devil is she and what has become of her?"

STOMACH TORTURE GONE; FIRST SLEEP IN THREE MONTHS

Mr. Heinricks Was Ready to Give Up. Then He Found How to Regain Health.

"The first sleep I had had in three months was on the second night after I began using Milks Emulsion. I had had a bad case of stomach trouble and constipation for years and was ready to give up. I was troubled with gas, dizziness, bloat after eating, gnawing sensation and cramps in the stomach. Milks Emulsion was a God-send to me, and I want everyone to know about a medicine that will cure cases like mine."—C. E. Heinricks, 702 S. Alabama St. Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Heinricks and thousands of other former sufferers from catarrh of the stomach, indigestion and bowel troubles, have found that Milks Emulsion gives prompt relief and real lasting benefit.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Stewart's Drug Co.

OLD PHONE RATES MAY RETURN

Harrisburg, April 3—As a result of the decision of Julge Kunkel in the Dauphin county court continuing the motion for an injunction by the Attorney General against the increase in rates of the Bell Telephone company provided by order of Postmaster General Burleson it is expected that the telephone companies of the state will be notified to restore original rates. The Public Service commission will likely ask that the rates be restored at once and that no increases be established without first filing a new tariff with the commission as required by the state law.

RARE PHENOMENON APPEARS IN HEAVENS

Conjunction of New Moon and Planet Venus Seen Here Last Night

A rare astronomical phenomenon was seen in the skies last night when the conjunction of the new moon and the planet Venus appeared for the first time in many years. The transition first appeared shortly after 8 o'clock and lasted several hours then slowly melted from view. The scene reached its greatest grandeur around 10 o'clock when the moon, moving eastward, seemed apparently to get nearer Venus until a collision of the heavenly bodies seemed inevitable.

Astronomers and other persons interested in the stars who witnessed the sight notified the colleges and universities and more than 1,000 students viewed the two stars which assume these positions but once in 10 years.

In ancient times the phenomenon was looked upon as a portent of evil or good announcing the death of a prince or king, the approach of an epidemic or the birth of a great man

What Fordson Service Will Do For You

There are two big factors to consider when you are buying a tractor—both equally important—the tractor itself and the service rendered.

A tractor which is standing idle because the service station is far away or because the dealer hasn't the proper parts is a poor investment, no matter how well the tractor itself may be made.

Fordson Tractors are selling by the thousands every month and are giving universal satisfaction all over the world because of this:

The tractor itself is made as durable, dependable, efficient and economical as the best engineering skill, the finest materials and workmanship can make it.

And added to this wherever a Fordson Tractor is sold, you will find parts and service as quickly and easily available as the horse you put into the tank.

Our service means this to you. First that we will thoroughly instruct you how to get the most out of your tractor—how to operate it properly so as to avoid trouble—how to make all minor repairs and adjustments so that only on rare occasions will you have to call for help.

Then when you do require help for repair work or parts you will find us ready at a moment's notice.

Our stock of parts is complete, our mechanics are experts.

Fordson service is delivered to your farm.

To own a Fordson means that you own a durable, dependable, economical tractor that will serve you every working day in the year.

The Fordson company make it durable and dependable.

We keep it so.

Too Early? NO!

April is none too early to think about canning May strawberries, June peas, July tomatoes and August corn.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN will say "Ready to Can" in its issue of April 12, and thereafter for eleven weeks it will present, weekly, full and complete directions and time tables for cold pack canning, as well as drying and brining, with the finest picture explanations that have ever been published.

Thousands of families—farm, suburban and city—have swatted old High Cost of Living the past winter with pantries full of canned fruit and vegetables. Other thousands will profit by their example this coming summer, and prepare for next winter's gardenless days. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN tells Father how to grow the food, and Mother how to save it in cans. So it's up to Father to subscribe for Mother—or Mother to subscribe for Father. MICHIGAN TO VOTE ON BEER AND LIGHT WINE

Detroit, Mich., April 2—Friends and foes alike of the liquor traffic will await with interest the results of the election to be held in Michigan next Monday, when the voters of the state will pass upon a so-called beer and wine amendment to the present law which provides for statewide prohibition of the 'bone dry" variety. The proposed amendment reads as follows:

"It shall be forever lawful in this state to import, transport, manufacture, use, buy, sell, keep for sale, give away, barter or furnish every kind of cider, wines, beer, ale and porter and to possess the same in a private residence. So much of Section II Article XVI of this constitution as prohibits the manufacture sale, keeping for sale, giving away, bartering or furnishing of vinous, malt, brewed or fermented liquors, is hereby repealed. The Legislature by general laws shall reasonably license and regulate the sale and keeping for sale of vinous malt, brewed or fermented liquors; provided, however, that the electors of each city, village or township forever shall have the right to prohibit the manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale of vinous, malt, brewed or fermented liquors within such city, village or township."

Attention is called by opponents of the saloon traffic to the fact that the wording of this proposed amendment is such that, in reality, far more may be included within its scope than appears at first sight on the surface.

The State Anti-Saloon league is circulating widely a statement under the caption, "The Forty Points," in which an attempt is made to point out the full significance of the proposals. It is claimed by the anti-saloon leaders that the adoption of the amendment would amount to a repeal of the local option law and would prevent the people from initiating by petition any new option law giving a county the right to prohibit such liquors as are mentioned in the proposed amendment.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

LEITZINGER BROTHERS

HUNGARY AND THE HUNGARIANS

Hungary has a population of 20,000,000.

The area of Hungary is about equal to that of the State of New Mexico.

Hungary is unusually rich in its mineral deposits. Its mines contain almost inexhaustible quantities of gold, silver, lead, copper, iron, coal and rock salt.

Hungary, like Austria, is inhabited by several distinct races, but since the ninth century when the Magyars invaded the region from Asia and conquered it, they have controlled the government.

Self-government through parliament in Hungary is of ancient origin, being founded upon a charter called the Golden Bull which dates back to 1222, and is thus almost contemporary with the Magna Charta of England.

Budapst, the capital city of Hungary, consists of the sister towns of Buda and Pest. Lying on either side of the Danube, just at that point where is definitely sets south, Pest spreads itself out over the flat sandy plain on the left bank, while Buda occupies a series of small and steep hills on the right bank.

Empress Marie Theresa Germanized Hungary as completely as she Germanized all her alienated Austrian provinces and German flourished as the official, bureaucratii, scientfic and society medium in Hungary until the Magyars broke loose from Austrian thraldom and secured their paritical emancipation. Then German went to the wall, and today there are millions in Hungary wholly ignorant of the German language.

HASTY PATCHWORK PEACE MAY BE NECESSARY

NO APPARENT PROGRESS ON TERMS WHILE CRISIS IN GERMANY IS VERY RAPIDLY APPROACHING

OBJECTION IN BRITAIN HAMPERS

By Carl D. Groat
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 3—Continued pressure on the "big four" to accomplish any work, due to the serious situation in Germany, accentuated the pessimism surrounding the peace conference today.

There was talk in some high quarters that it will be necessary to make peace along general lines if a settlement is to be made effective before a crisis is reached in Germany.

The present bitter debate in British parliament over peace is regarded as significant.

VOLUNTEERS WILL RALIEVE MEN NOW SERVING WITH ARMY OF OCCUPATION

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 3—Soldiers in the American army of occupation will be released as rapidly as volunteers can be sent the War Department stated today, in a letter to General Pershing. Pershing was instructed to select the most meritorious cases from among his men and those who enlisted for the duration of the war for priority in return. The War Department also revealed the proportion which men are being enlisted for various branches of the service. A cable to Pershing said "we are now enlisting for three years 50,000 volunteers as follows: 25,000 Infantry, 16,000 field artillery 5,000 engineers 3,000 medical department, 2,000 cavalry.

APPEAL TO SAVE DEBS FROM PRISON IS BEING PUT UP TO THE PRESIDENT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 3—President Wilson has been informally asked to grant respite to Eugene C. Debs, found guilty and sentenced to ten years imprisonment under the espionage act, it was announced at the White House today. The application is now in the hands of the Attorney General and his recommendation is expected to be forwarded to the President at Paris shortly. The request is signed by Frank P. Walsh,, Charles Edward Russell and Allen Benson.

PTODATE EUROPEAN OTEL FOR THIS CITY

alph Jordan, proprietor of the known Jordan Cafe, next door e Witmer Inn hotel, has secured ng lease on the Witmer Inn and Contractor Grant Butler and a of men busy at work converting same into an up-to-date temperate hotel, which will be conducted on European plan.

Mr. Jordan has had many years experience as a successful caterer and restaurateur and knowing as he does the needs of the town and the possibilities connected therewith has embarked in this business proposition.

Under his plans the building will be completely overhauled and many improvements added thereto. These will consist of placing wash stands with hot and cold water in each of the thirty-two bedrooms on the second and third floors and the addition of several bath rooms and shower bath.

The old bar room, writing room and office will be converted into a dining room with a seating capacity of 150. In addition thereto a private dining room will also be fitted up immediately adjoining the main dining hall.

The present hotel dining room will be converted into office and writing room while the present kitchen will be utilized as a stock room.

An addition will be built into the space between the restaurant and the private dining room immediately in the rear in which the store or stock room and kitchen will be located. Spacious hallways will connect the kitchen, dining rooms and other first floor departments.

Three thousand feet of mineral wood flooring will be used in the dining room, which will be wainscoated four feet high of the same material. A handsome wall lighting system will be employed and the dining room made a real "show place".

The furniture and equipmnt will be uniform in style and of the very best and when completed Mr. Jordan will have one of the finest establishments of the kind in this section.

The change will be made at an estimated total cost of more than ten thousand dollars, Mr. ordan feeling justified in making the outlay by the fact that he has secured a long term lease on the property.

In connection with this change we are unofficially informed that the plans of the McCrory Company for the future provide for the extension of their present Market street store through to the alley in the rear of the Witmer Inn property. We make his latter statement in fear and trembling because some time ago we printed a news item concerning the possible utility of the Witmer Inn property and one of the 5 and 10 cent lawyers connected with the corporation scared us nigh to death by threatening dire things if we didn't take it back.

HAS OFFICE IN MURRAY BUILDING

BERLIN STRIKE IS SPREADING; OVER 100,000 NOW IDLE

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

Berlin, April 2, (delayed)—More than 150,000 men were on strike in Berlin late today Metal workers were the first to walk out. They were quickly followed by several others of the trade's unions. While the strike had been anticipated for several days it was believed to have been postponed and the walk out caught the government forces unprepared. There was no violence, however and the city was quiet tonight. Reports received here tonight indicated that disturbances had been renewed in Stuttgart Business is completely at a stand still. Crowds swarmed through the streets storming army food wagons. Government troops are using machine guns, behind buildings and armored motor cars. Aa battery of tanks is assisting in patroling the streets. In Frankfurt hundreds of persons have been arrested. Loss from plundering is estimated at a million dollars.

CENTER OF CITY HAS CLOSE CALL FROM PAPER FIRE

Burning paper came mighty near causing a real fire at Schmitt's bake shop last evening about 7 o'clock. A young son of W. P. Sheeder carried a large pile of waste paper out of the music store and setting fire to it in the vacant lot back of Tobias' grocery went away and left it. A gust of wind scattered the blazing paper every which way and a portion of same lodging in a large pile of wood immediately adjoining the flour room at the bakery a dangerous fire was quickly started.

When the fire was discovered the bakery people got busy at once but it was burning so fiercely that it looked as though the flames would communicate to the building and the fire alarm was sounded. The firemen were quickly on the scene but were not required to get into action, but it was a very close call.

This near-blaze should once more emphasize the dangerousness of the paper burning practice, so freely indulged in by too many Clearfield business men. The neighborhood wherein this accident occurred is notorious for this bad habit and Fire Chief Hopfer proposes now to break it up if he has to invoke the State law in addition to the borough ordinances.

The backyards in this neighborhood and several other places about town are also regular fire traps as they are littered with inflammable rubbish of every kind and description and a general clean up and lessening of the fire hazard generally is necessary and at once.

Act now before a disastrous fire occurs.

PENN STATE TO CELEBRATE COMMENCEMENT IN JUNE

State College, Pa., April 3—The commencement exercises at the Pennsylvania State College next June will break all records in the number of alumni returning for class reunions and in the intensity of celebration.

Appropriate patriotic celebrations for the victorious close of the war are under consideration by the college authorities. Hundreds of alumni and former students recently out of military service have decided to come back for the biggest celebration reunion to express their jubilation at America's victory and Penn State's participation in the war. Special features will be arranged in memory of Penn State's graduates who made the supreme sacrifice.

WEST SIDE M. E. CHOIR ATTENTION!

"TED" LEITZINGER DESCRIBES PARIS IN GLOWING TERMS

March, 8 1919
Selles Sur Chee

Dear Dad,

Will try and give you a little description of my trip to Paris. I left St Argnan last Monday at 5 p. m. and arrived in Tours at 8 p. m. Left Tours for Paris at 2.30 a. m. arriving there at 8 a. m. I knew the name of the Y. M. C. A hotel that I wanted to get to and took the subway (they call it the Metro) up to the center of the city. I got a good room there for 3 francs (60 cents) a night. The meals are all excellent. The dining rooms seat about 1200. You can get breakfast and lunch for 65c, dinner at 6 p m., 85c They have two French men at information desks who will give you written directions where ever you want to go. They also run a lunch counter all day and night where you can get coffee and sandwiches and fruit. They also make up small lunches for you to take when you are going on the train. They supply you with wrapping paper and cord, and have a lady there to address and weigh your small packages for you. I sent a little package to John Jr., hope that he receives it.

I was up to the K. of C. and they have a fairly nice place. All they have though is a reading room, writing room and pool parlor Both the Y. M. C. A and the K. of C. run boxing contests at a large auditorium throughout the city

The Y. M. C. A. run sight seeing busses through the city in the morning and again in the p. m. You pay 5 francs ($1.00 and it si well worth the money. I took in the trip Wednesday morning. We left our hote (hotel Pavillion) at 9:15 a m. We went up the grand boulevard first coming to the Bastile—the famous prison which in the old days the people tore down with their bare hands. (There is a Y. M. C. A secretary goes with each bus and explains every thing)

The next place we came to was the famous Cathedral Notre Dame. This is where Napoleon was crowned. The original crown of thorns at the time of the crucifixion is kept here and is displayed once a year. You see the big doors there where the royalty used to ride through on horse back. The common people entered through a small door on the side. I sent home a postal of the beautiful rose window. It is the most beautiful window in the world. On our way we passed the church where 90 people were killed on Good Friday when a shell from the 75-mile gun struck the church. Next we went through the Palace of Justice. We were in the room where the Supreme court meets The cost of this room has never been estimated. All of the trimmings is in solid gold. The rug on the floor is worth four million dollars.

On our way to Napoleon's tomb which was our next stop, we passed the famous Eiffel tower which is 984 feet high. It is used for a radio station and no visitors permitted. Napoleon's tomb certainly as wonderful. They sure have him weighed down. I think that he will be misisng on Resurrection. Day His two brothers and two of his famous generals are buried in the same building.

The next place we took in was the Pantheon La Guerre. Believe me this is some sight. The big thing in there is a picture painted on canvas which forms a circle around the room. It is 368 feet around and 45 feet high. It took 19 artists 4 years to paint the picture. It is a war picture and each allied country is represented on the canvas. The entire battle-field is shown, you can see the aeroplane and tanks.

We got back to the hotel at noon and at 12:30 I stared out again with a bunch of 500 soldiers and 4 Y. M. C. A. secertaries. This time we were headed for Versailles the former capitol of France. It is 15 miles out and we took the subway (This trip costs us 40c.) Versailles is valued at 75 million, so you can bet it was a treat. We were taken all through the palace. I was in the room where grandfather of the present Kaiser was proclaimed Emperor of Germany This is the room where the German delegates will lhave to come to sign the peace terms. There is one immense hall there called the Hall of Battles Here a picture is painted on the wall of the most famous battle of the different kings from the year 496 to 1809. Saw the place where the mob took Louis 14th and Marie Antionette You can easily see why there was a revolution over here The Germans occupied this castle when they occupied Paris in 1870, but did not harm it, I could not start to describe the grounds. They are too beautiful for words to describe. We arrived back at the hotel at 3:30 p. m.

The first thing that I did was to go to the K. of C. headquarters and try and get my check cashed. One of the Secretaries, a Mr. M E. Buerle, from Cleveland Council No. 733, said he would take a chance on me and gave the treasurer his personal check in exchange for mine. Write to him in care of the K of C. headquarters at Paris and thank him. It certainly helped me out for I could not of had it cashed.

I mentioned in one of my other letters about meeting Mr. Swiggan. I recognized him as I remembered seeing him work the 3rd in Altoona and DuBois. I also met a fellow in Paris from Philipsburg, Pa., by the name of Fred offer. I used to play basket ball against him.

I took in a good show every night. The Follies Bourges and the Casino de Paris are two of the big ones I took in.

Well, I am mighty glad that I got to see Paris. It is the most wonderful city in the world and I think the rottenest. Believe me it is fierce. I left Paris yesterday morning and arrived at Chatillon at 5 p. m. All of the outfit had been transferred to the 163 Railway transportation at Selles Sur Chee, four miles down the Canal. Well, here I am. We have an entire new personnel of officers and couldn't wish for better ones. When at full strength the Co. will consist of 250 men. We are nearly filled now as men have been coming in all day long We only exect to be here a few days til lwe will be sent to our destination I do not know how I am going to like it but it looks pretty good at first glance. I will be good and busy from now on. All we are doing here is getting our equipment. We were issued Smith & Weston revolvers today. I know that I will be much more content now that I am kept busy. I no doubt will have charge of a platoon (60 men.' Which will keep me good an dbusy. Men from all branches of the service are in this Co.

Yesterday I received your letter of Feb. 14, and 18. Glad to hear I have so much money in the bank. I will see what they want for the Woolworth building when I get to N. Y and if it is not too much I will buy. Say I think I have a $50 Liberty Bond too. (All paid for) Will let you know details of this job as soon as I find them out m yself. Love to all.

Sgt. F. W LEITZINGER,
K. of C St. Aignan, France
A. P. O. 727 A. E. F.

P. S. Still send my mail there. When we hit a permanent place I will give you my other address.

SPENT VACATION AT ORLANDO

Clearfield, Pa.
April 4,, 1919

Editor Progress:

Dear Sir: After thanking you for sending me the Progress regularly to Orlando, Florida, I want to say that the time we spent in Florida was spent largely at Orlando. We visited Petersburg to see the Clearfield colony, and other towns in the state. We met many of the "Idle Rich" on the west coast, and our visit to St. Petersburg was made specially pleasant by the courtesy of our friends Conklin & Reed, who seem to be prospering in the south and we are under lasting obligations to E E. Jimison and wife, who enabled us in their car, to see many of the towns of Florida and the east coast

Cordially yours,
F. G. HARRIS

NOTICE

The regular meeting of the W. C T .U will be held at the home of Mrs Martha Iiames Friday evening at 7:30

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

JAMES EARNEST KARNES, Sergeant, Company D, 117th Infantry.

Sergt. Karnes, whose home is with his mother, Mrs. Emily Karnes, 2501 North Broadway, Knoxville, Tenn., was decorated for extraordinary heroism in action near Estrees, France, October 8, 1918. During an advance, Sergt. Karnes' company was held up by a machine gun, which was enfilading the lines. Accompanied by another member of his company, he advanced against this position and succeeded in reducing the nest by killing three and capturing seven of the enemy and their guns.

Lest We Forget

JUDGE REED LIKELY TO SIT ON PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Harrisburg, April 2—Informaton at the Capitol tonight is to the effect that Judge John W Reed, formerly judge of Brookville, Jefferson County, will fill the vacancy on the Public Service Commission caused by the death of Commissioner Harold M. McClure. The post, it is said, has been tendered him by the Governor and information is that he has accepted. It is expected the announcement of his appointment will be made before the Governor goes to Hot Springs, Va., in the next day or so.

Judge Reed served two terms as judge of the Common Pleas Court of Jefferson county, and was recognized throughout the State as one of the very ablest lower court judges in Pennsylvania. He was defeated for re-election in 1916, the wet and dry question, entering into the contest and this issue alone encompassed his defeat

In 1917 he removed from Brookville to Clearfield and associated himself with Hon. Harry Boulton and John C. Forsyth in the practice of law here under the firm name of Reed, Boulton & Forsyth.

He is a strong vigorous man in the prime of life and he will bring to the Public Service Commission an able judicial mind, and a reputation as jurist, lawyer and citizen against which no word of criticism can be truthfully spoken. His selection by Governor Sproul is a signal honor to Clearfield and is so regarded and appreciated by all our citizens, regardless of party affiliations The Governor, the Public Service Commission and the people of Pennsylvania are to be congratulated upon the appointment to this highly important position of John W. Reed.

The Progress man asked Judge Reed this morning to verify the dispatches carried by the city newspapers. He said he knew nothing about it more than was contained in those dispatches and also said he had not asked for the appointment and did not know it was being considered until a Pittsburg banker friend wired his congratulations on the appointment this morning.

EDITORIAL HASH.

According to the weekly bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture there is over seven million bushels of potatoes yet on the farms of this state. Over 204,000 bushels are reported to be in the bins of Clearfield county farmers. Of wheat there is reported to be almost four million bushels in the hands of the farmers and 20,000 bushels held by Clearfield farmers. Talk about food supply. As far as spuds are concerned there are 2 bushels each for every man, woman and child in the county which ought to last us until our gardens are blooming.

Now here is where we are going to call down the wrath of our farmer friends on our heads. A man who has the figures and information before him declares that the farmers of Pennsylvania "took nothing of the First Libert Loan" a little of the Second, some of the Third and in the Fourth, they just began to buy bonds."

This is really an indictment against the farmer in general notwithstanding the fact that we knew some who went the limit. The truth hurts. Farmers will have a chance to raise their batting average on the next loan.

Ambition is a commendable trait in any man but misguided ambition often results in a hasty jump from the frying pan into the fire. Germany had a better government under the Kaiser than she has today and the only reason that riot and anarchy are running wild in Germany today is because the German people seek to accomplish and build up over night what will require years of patient effort to build. The great reforms to which we look forward in this country cannot come about through miracles or sudden and swift changes of government. We can and will improve our own national situation but it cannot be done by soapbox orations or political upheavals.

George wrote another letter to Bill who is with the A. E. F., now holding the Rhine bridgeheads. Here is a copy of it. We can hear Bill snort and rage when he reads the last paragraph.

Dear Bill:

Well I wish you could have been in the old town last night. Big dance. Some affair too. Two dollars per with a buffet lunch and you know how much a buffet lunch sets you back these days. Of course I had just drawn a sweet old pay envelope and then I had some saved up from the good old days when we were getting bonuses for making munitions for you fellows to use. Met some of the swell ladies again who I become acquainted with this winter at other dances and one in particular to whom I sent a big box of candy a couple of weeks ago. This ball is a sort of preliminary to another which is to be given at Easter time and I'm all ready for that of course with a new layout from the tailor. It is to be held over at the berg and the bunch will hire cars to go over, that is the most of them will, but as for me I expect to have a boat of my own by that time. It's ordered now.

Now that the war is over Bill, you might be glad you are over there with nothing to do but guard duty. Better than fighting, isn't it. It's H—— here. Always after a fellow for money for something. Expect too much of us. Now they are getting up another loan. I can't see where I can take any. I can't afford it. So long, write.

Yours,
GEORGE

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Thomas K. Barnes, wealthy New Yorker, on a walking trip through New England, is caught in a storm miles from his destination. At a crossroads point he meets a girl in the same plight. While they discuss the situation an automobile, sent to meet the girl, arrives and Barnes is given a lift to Hart's tavern, while the girl is taken on to her destination, which she tells Barnes is a place called Green Fancy.

CHAPTER II—At the tavern Barnes falls in with a stranded troupe of "barnstorming" actors, headed by Lyndon Rusheroft, and becomes interested in them.

CHAPTER III—As the storm grows, Barnes finds himself worrying over the safety of the girl, traveling over the mountain roads at what he considers dangerous speed. He learns that Green Fancy is something of a house of mystery. Two mounted men leave the tavern in a manner which arouses Barnes' curiosity.

CHAPTER IV—He meets "Miss Thackeray," leading lady of the stranded theatrical troupe, who is acting as chambermaid. That night he is aroused by the bringing of a dying man to the tavern, one of the two who had ridden away a short time before. They tell of finding the dead body of the other man. Both had been shot.

CHAPTER V.

The Farm-Boy Tells a Ghastly Story and an Irishman Enters.

Barnes stared. "What do you mean?" he demanded sharply.

"I mean just what I said. What do you know about this business?"

"How should I know anything about it?"

"Well, we don't know who you are, nor what you're doing up here, nor what your real profession is. That's why I ask the question."

"I see," said Barnes, after a moment. He grasped the situation and he admitted to himself that Jones had cause for his suspicions. "It has occurred to you that I may be a detective or a secret service man, isn't that the case? Well, I am neither. Did you know any more about these two men, Mr. Jones, than you know about me?"

"I don't know anything about 'em."

"What was their business?"

"Mr. Roon was lookin' for a place to bring his daughter who has consumption. He didn't want to take her to a reg'lar consumptive community, he said, an' so he was lookin' for a quiet place where she wouldn't be associatin' with lungers all the time. That was his business, Mr. Barnes, an' I guess you'd call it respectable, wouldn't you?"

"Perfectly. But why should he be troubled by my presence here if—"

Miss Thackeray put an end to the discussion in a most effectual manner.

"Oh, for the Lord's sake, cut it out! Wait till he's dead, can't you?" she whispered fiercely. "You've got all the time in the world to talk, and he hasn't more than ten minutes left to breathe unless that rube doctor gets here pretty soon. I think he's going

"I Think He's Going Now," She Whispered.

now. Keep still, all of you. Is he breathing, Mr. Barnes? That awful cough just now seemed to—" Her eyes were fixed on the still face. "Why—why, how tightly he holds my hand! I can't get it away—he must be alive, Mr. Barnes. Where is that silly doctor?"

Barnes unclasped the rigid fingers of the man called Andrew Paul, and, shaking his head sadly, drew her away from the improvised bier. He and the shivering Mr. Dillingford conducted her to the dining room, where a single kerosene lamp gave out a feeble, rather ghastly light.

"Would you like a little brandy?" inquired Barnes, as she sat down limply in the chair he pulled out for her. "I have a flask upstairs in my—"

"I never touch it," she said. "I'm all right. My legs wabble a little but—Sit down Mr. Barnes. I've got something to say to you and I'd better say it now, because it may come in pretty handy for you later on. Don't let those women come in here, Dilly.

"This afternoon I walked up in the woods back of the tavern to go over some lines in a new piece we are to do later on—God knows when! I could see the house from where I was sitting. Roon's windows were plainly visible. I saw Roon standing at a window looking toward the cross-roads with a pair of field-glasses. Every once in awhile he would turn to Paul, who stood beside him with a notebook, and say something to him. Paul wrote it down. Then he would look again, turning the glasses this way and that. Suddenly my eyes almost popped out of my head. Paul had gone away from the window. He came back and he had a couple of revolvers in his hands. They stood there for a few minutes carefully examining the weapons and reloading them with fresh cartridges. Just as I was about to start down to the house—it was a little after six o'clock, and getting awfully dark and overcast—Roon took up the glasses again. He seemed to be excited and called his companion. Paul grabbed the glasses and looked down the road. They both became very much excited, pointing and gesticulating, and taking turn about with the glasses."

"About six o'clock, you say?" said Barnes, greatly interested.

"It was a quarter after six when I got back to the house. I spoke to Mr. Bacon about what I'd seen and he said he believed they were German spies, up to some kind of mischief along the Canadian border. Then about half an hour later you came to the tavern. I saw Roon sneak out to the head of the stairs and listen to your conversation with Jones when you registered. That gave me an idea. It was you they were watching the road for."

Barnes held up his hand for silence. "Listen," he said in a low voice. "I will tell you who they were looking for." As briefly as possible he recounted his experience with the strange young woman at the cross roads. "From the beginning I have connected this tragedy with the place called Green Fancy. I'll stake my last penny that they have been hanging around here waiting for the arrival of that young woman. They knew she was coming and they doubtless knew what she was bringing with her. What do you know about Green Fancy?"

He was vastly excited. His active imagination was creating all sorts of possibilities and complications, depredations and intrigues.

Bacon was the one who answered. "People live up there and since we've been here two or three men visitors have come down from the place to sample our stock of wet goods. I talked with a couple of 'em day before yesterday. They were out for a horseback ride and stopped here for a mug of ale."

"Were they foreigners?" inquired Barnes.

"If you want to call an Irishman a foreigner, I'll have to say one of them was. He had a beautiful brogue. The other was an American, I'm sure. Yesterday they rode past here with a couple of swell-looking women. I saw them turn up the road to Green Fancy."

The arrival of four or five men, who stamped into the already crowded hallway from the porch outside, claimed the attention of the quartette. Among them was the doctor who, they were soon to discover, was also the coroner of the county. A very officious deputy sheriff was also in the group.

Mr. Jones called out from the doorway: "Mr. Barnes, you're wanted in there."

"All right," he responded.

The doctor had been working over the prostrate form on the tables. As Barnes entered the room, he looked up and declared that the man was dead.

"This is Mr. Barnes," said Putnam Jones, indicating the tall traveler with a short jerk of his thumb.

"I am from the sheriff's office," said the man who stood beside the doctor. The rest of the crowd evidently had been ordered to stand back from the tables. "Did you ever see this man before?"

"Not until he was carried in here an hour ago."

"What's your business up here, Mr. Barnes?"

"I have no business up here. I just happened to stroll in this evening."

"Well," said the sheriff darkly, "I guess I'll have to ask you to stick around here till we clear this business up. We don't know you an'— Well, we can't take any chances. You understand, I reckon."

"I certainly fail to understand, Mr. Sheriff. I know nothing whatever of this affair, and I intend to continue on my way tomorrow morning."

"Well, I guess not. You got to stay here till we are satisfied that you don't know anything about this busi-

The HOT SPOT Chalmers is the One Car of the Day

THE great American public, never fooled for long, is beginning to realize that Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

Sales are climbing fast. From coast to coast the movement is toward Chalmers.

Today this car is on a production basis at the factory that Chalmers executives little expected to occur even in July.

Why is this?

The answer is "Hot Spot." For this simple but really magnificent device does a trick in the use of gas that is almost beyond belief.

It "smashes up" raw gas, "pulverizes" it, makes it "fine as dust," so that you can get every last bit of power out of gas.

Then the great Ram's-horn rushes it gently but quickly through "easy air bends" to the cylinders, and what is the result?

Not only high power from a low grade gas, but an even, soft flow of power that rests your nerves, saves your tires, and gives you a new and rare delight in driving.

Please don't miss this present day Chalmers. It's the one car of the day.

ness. That's all."

"Am I to consider myself under arrest, sir?"

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that. You just stick around here, that's all I got to say. If you're all right, we'll soon find it out. What's more, if you are all right you'll be willin' to stay. Do you get me?"

"I certainly do. And I can now assure you, Mr. Sheriff, that I'd like nothing better than to stick around here, as you put it. I'd like to help clear this matter up. In the meantime, you may readily find out who I am and why I am here by telegraphing to the mayor of New York city. This document, which experience has taught me to carry for just such an emergency as this, may have some weight with you." He opened his bill folder and drew forth a neatly creased sheet of paper. "Read it, please, and note the date, the signature, the official seal of the New York police department, and also the rather interesting silver initial pasted in the lower left hand corner. I think you will agree that it is a good likeness of me. Each year I take the precaution of having myself certified by the police department at home before venturing into unknown and perhaps unfriendly communities."

"Yes," said the sheriff dubiously; "but how do I know it ain't a forgery?"

"You don't know, of course. But in case it shouldn't be a forgery and I am subjected to the indignity of arrest or even detention, you would have a nasty time defending yourself in a civil suit for damages. I shall remain here, as you suggest, but only for the purpose of aiding you in getting to the bottom of this affair."

Standing on Jim Conley's front porch a little after sunrise, Barnes made the following declaration:

"Everything goes to show that these men were up here for one of two reasons. They were either trying to prevent or to enact a crime. The latter is my belief. They were afraid of me. Why? Because they believed I was trailing them and likely to spoil their game. Gentlemen, those fellows were here for the purpose of robbing the place you call Green Fancy."

"What's that?" came a rich, mellow voice from the outskirts of the crowd. A man pushed his way through and confronted Barnes. He was a tall, good-looking fellow of thirty-five, and it was apparent that he had dressed in haste. "My name is O'Dowd, and I am a guest of Mr. Curtis at Green Fancy. Why do you think they meant to rob his place?"

"Well," began Barnes dryly, "it would seem that his place is the only one in the neighborhood that would bear robbing. My name is Barnes. Of course, Mr. O'Dowd, it is mere speculation on my part."

"But who shot the man?" demanded the Irishman. "He certainly wasn't winged by anyone from our place. Why, Lord love you, sir, there isn't a soul at Green Fancy who could shoot a thief if he saw one. This is Mr. De Soto, also a guest at Green Fancy. He will, I think, bear me out in upsetting your theory."

A second man approached, shaking his head vigorously. He was a thin, able man with a singularly scholastic face. Quite an unpossessing, unsanguinary person, thought Barnes.

"Mr. Curtis' chauffeur, I think it was, said the killing occurred just above this house," said he, visibly excited. "Green Fancy is at least a mile from here, isn't it? You don't shoot burglars a mile from the place they are planning to rob, do you?"

"I'll admit it's a bit out of reason," said Barnes. "The second man could only have been shot by some one who was lying in wait for him."

"Bedad," said O'Dowd, "it beats the devil. There's something big in this thing, Mr. Parkins—something a long sight bigger than any of us suspects."

"You'll find that it resolves itself into a problem for Washington to solve," said De Soto darkly. "Nothing local about it, take my word for it. These men were up to some international devilment. There'll be a stir in Washington over this, sure as anything."

"What time was it that you heard the shots up at Green Fancy?" ventured Barnes.

"Lord love you," cried O'Dowd, "we didn't hear a sound. Mr. Curtis, who has insomnia the worst way, poor devil, heard them and sent some one out to see what all the racket was about. The man, it seems, made such a devil of a racket when he came home with the news that the whole house was up in pajamas and peignoirs."

"I think I have a slight acquaintance with the chauffeur," said Barnes. "He gave me the most thrilling motor ride I've ever experienced. Gad, I'll never forget it."

The two men looked at him plainly perplexed.

"When was all this?" inquired De Soto.

"Early last evening. He picked up your latest guest at the corners, and she insisted in his driving me to the tavern before the storm broke. I've been terribly anxious about her. She must have been caught out in all that frightful—"

"What's this you are saying, Mr. Barnes?" cut in De Soto, frowning. "No guest arrived at Green Fancy last evening, nor was one expected."

Barnes stared. "Do you mean to say that she didn't get there, after all?"

"She? A woman, was it?" demanded O'Dowd. "Bedad, if she said she was coming to Green Fancy she was spoofing you. Are you sure it was old Peter who gave you that jolly ride?"

"No, I am not sure," said Barnes uneasily. "She was afoot, having walked from the station below. I met her at the corners and she asked me if I knew how far it was to Green Fancy, or something like that. Said she was going there. Then along came the automobile, rattling down this very road—an ancient Panhard driven by an old codger. She seemed to think it was all right to hop in and trust herself to him, although she'd never seen him before."

"The antique Panhard fits in all right," said O'Dowd, "but I'm hanged if the woman fits at all. No such person arrived at Green Fancy last night."

"Did you get a square look at the driver's face?" demanded De Soto.

"It was almost too dark to see, but he was old, hatchet-faced, and spoke with an accent."

"Then it couldn't have been Peter," said De Soto positively. "He's old, right enough, but he is as big as the side of a house, with a face like a full moon, and he is Yankee to his toes. By gad, Barnes, the plot thickens! A woman has been added to the mystery. Now, who the devil is she and what has become of her?"

STOMACH TORTURE GONE; FIRST SLEEP IN THREE MONTHS

Mr. Heinricks Was Ready to Give Up. Then He Found How to Regain Health.

"The first sleep I had had in three months was on the second night after I began using Milks Emulsion. I had had a bad case of stomach trouble and constipation for years and was ready to give up. I was troubled with gas, dizziness, bloat after eating, gnawing sensation and cramps in the stomach. Milks Emulsion was a God-send to me, and I want everyone to know about a medicine that will cure cases like mine."—C. E. Heinricks, 702 S. Alabama St. Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. Heinricks and thousands of other former sufferers from catarrh of the stomach, indigestion and bowel troubles, have found that Milks Emulsion gives prompt relief and real lasting benefit.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. A truly wonderful medicine for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold and guaranteed by Stewart's Durg Co.

OLD PHONE RATES MAY RETURN

Harrisburg, April 3—As a result of the decision of Julge Kunkel in the Dauphin county court continuing the motion for an injunction by the Attorney General against the increase in rates of the Bell Telephone company provided by order of Postmaster General Burleson it is expected that the telephone companies of the state will be notified to restore original rates. The Public Service commission will likely ask that the rates be restored at once and that no increases be established without first filing a new tariff with the commission as required by the state law.

RARE PHENOMENON APPEARS IN HEAVENS

Conjunction of New Moon and Planet Venus Seen Here Last Night

A rare astronomical phenomenon was seen in the skies last night when the conjunction of the new moon and the planet Venus appeared for the first time in many years. The transition first appeared shortly after 8 o'clock and lasted several hours then slowly melted from view. The scene reached its greatest grandeur around 10 o'clock when the moon, moving eastward, seemed apparently to get nearer Venus until a collision of the heavenly bodies seemed inevitable.

Astronomers and other persons interested in the stars who witnessed the sight notified the colleges and universities and more than 1,000 students viewed the two stars which assume these positions but once in 10 years.

In ancient times the phenomenon was looked upon as a portent of evil or good announcing the death of a prince or king, the approach of an epidemic or the birth of a great man

What Fordson Service Will Do For You

There are two big factors to consider when you are buying a tractor—both equally important—the tractor itself and the service rendered.

A tractor which is standing idle because the service station is far away or because the dealer hasn't the proper parts is a poor investment, no matter how well the tractor itself may be made.

Fordson Tractors are selling by the thousands every month and are giving universal satisfaction all over the world because of this:

The tractor itself is made as durable, dependable, efficient and economical as the best engineering skill, the finest materials and workmanship can make it.

And added to this wherever a Fordson Tractor is sold, you will find parts and service as quickly and easily available as the horse you put into the tank.

Our service means this to you. First that we will thoroughly instruct you how to get the most out of your tractor—how to operate it properly so as to avoid trouble—how to make all minor repairs and adjustments so that only on rare occasions will you have to call for help.

Then when you do require help for repair work or parts you will find us ready at a moment's notice.

Our stock of parts is complete, our mechanics are experts.

Fordson service is delivered to your farm.

To own a Fordson means that you own a durable, dependable, economical tractor that will serve you every working day in the year.

The Fordson company make it durable and dependable.

We keep it so.

MICHIGAN TO VOTE ON BEER AND LIGHT WINE

Detroit, Mich., April 2—Friends and foes alike of the liquor traffic will await with interest the results of the election to be held in Michigan next Monday, when the voters of the state will pass upon a so-called beer and wine amendment to the present law which provides for statewide prohibition of the 'bone dry" variety. The proposed amendment reads as follows:

"It shall be forever lawful in this state to import, transport, manufacture, use, buy, sell, keep for sale, give away, barter or furnish every kind of cider, wines, beer, ale and porter and to possess the same in a private residence. So much of Section II Article XVI of this constitution as prohibits the manufacture sale, keeping for sale, giving away, bartering or furnishing of vinous, malt, brewed or fermented liquors, is hereby repealed. The Legislature by general laws shall reasonably license and regulate the sale and keeping for sale of vinous malt, brewed or fermented liquors; provided, however, that the electors of each city, village or township forever shall have the right to prohibit the manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale of vinous, malt, brewed or fermented liquors within such city, village or township."

Attention is called by opponents of the saloon traffic to the fact that the wording of this proposed amendment is such that, in reality, far more may be included within its scope than appears at first sight on the surface.

The State Anti-Saloon league is circulating widely a statement under the caption, "The Forty Points," in which an attempt is made to point out the full significance of the proposals. It is claimed by the anti-saloon leaders that the adoption of the amendment would amount to a repeal of the local option law and would prevent the people from initiating by petition any new option law giving a county the right to prohibit such liquors as are mentioned in the proposed amendment.

Eczema Vanishes In A Few Days

hty Powerful Antiseptic Stops Itching nstantly and by Its Use Ulcers, Boils Abscesses are Quickly Healed. I s Guaranteed.

Century Liniment Proves A r Worker in All Skin Diseases

f thousands of people now know h Century Liniment has no equal in tment of Neuritis, Lumbago Sciatica, ism, etc., and we want them to know h Century Liniment besides being one ment powerful of antiseptics capable of ing the most pernicious germs and the caused by them is also a marvelous agent.

One application, for instance, stops the itching of eczema and a few applications causes the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear .t is equally effective on barber's itch, salt rheum or other skin troubles.

There is nothing injurious in 20th Century Liniment. It contains such well known antiseptics as Camphor, Menthol, Iodine (in non-colorable form), Thymol and many other ingredients prescribed by the highest medical authorities in the land. If you don't get quick relief return the bottle and get your money back. What this truly wonderful antiseptic has done for others it can do for you. Woodward & McPherson can supply you.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

D. R. Fleming, Curwensville's cigar manufacturer, was a DuBois visitor yesterday where he transacted business pertaining to his line of goods. Dave manufactures a good line of goods and cannot make them fast enough to supply the demand by his patrons which extend as far as New York state.

The adult bible class held a social in the M E church Tuesday evening and was attended by nearly all of the lady members. A royal good time was had by all.

Miss Helen Benson had an arm broken the other day by being run into by a bicycle.

Lynn Daughert, one of Curwensville's hardware men, has purchased a large Cole 8 automobile.

Bethesda lodge I. O. O. F., on Saturday evening will initiate a class of five persons. Last Saturday evening this lodge finished up a class of nine candidates.

Mrs. John Norris' class held a dime social in the basement of the M. E. church Friday evening. A good time was enjoyed by all.

The Presbyterians served a 50c supper in the basement of the Presbyterian church Friday evening for the benefit of the church.

The entertainment of war pictrues which was to have been given in the M. E. church on Friday evening has been postponed until Saturday evening, on account of another entertainment which takes place on Friday evening.

A calendar social has been arranged for in the Presbyterian church on Friday evening.

George Smith, a son of Bird Smith, of Clymer, who recently returned from service overseas, visited with relatives in this place this week.

Isaac Black received a letter rfom her son Dorsey Black, yesterday in which he announces that he has arrived at Camp Dix and will be home within a few days. Clyde Black, another son, is still in France and expects to be home by the middle of May.

Curwensville lodge No. 486 K. of P., is up and doing and tonight will confer the rank of Page on six candidates. This lodge is one of the strongest in the county and the members never neglected an opportunity to preach Pythian gospel to the uninitiated and are continually hustling to increase the membership. Financially this lodge is miles ahead of all sister lodges within a radius of five counties, and it would be no surprise if within the next year it would erect its own home.

Heal Skin Diseases

It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, blotches, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c, or $1.00 for extra large bottle, and promptly applied will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.

LEITZINGER BROTHERS

HUNGARY AND THE HUNGARIANS

Hungary has a population of 20,000,000.

The area of Hungary is about equal to that of the State of New Mexico.

Hungary is unusually rich in its mineral deposits. Its mines contain almost inexhaustible quantities of gold, silver, lead, copper, iron, coal and rock salt.

Hungary, like Austria, is inhabited by several distinct races, but since the ninth century when the Magyars invaded the region from Asia and conquered it, they have controlled the government.

Self-government through parliament in Hungary is of ancient origin, being founded upon a charter called the Golden Bull which dates back to 1222, and is thus almost contemporary with the Magna Charta of England.

Budapst, the capital city of Hungary, consists of the sister towns of Buda and Pest. Lying on either side of the Danube, just at that point where is definitely sets south, Pest spreads itself out over the flat sandy plain on the left bank, while Buda occupies a series of small and steep hills on the right bank.

Empress Marie Theresa Germanized Hungary as completely as she Germanized all her alienated Austrian provinces and German flourished as the official, bureaucratii, scientfic and society medium in Hungary until the Magyars broke loose from Austrian thraldom and secured their paritical emancipation. Then German went to the wall, and today there are millions in Hungary wholly ignorant of the German language.
